My informant says that seven of these great shells were fired into the battery while he was present; five exploded, killing only one man, a Georgia soldier, who was standing in the door of his tent some listance in rear of our batteries. Of the two that did not explode, one buried itself nine and the other twelve feet in the earth. In the next place, the Yankees have been permitted to throw up breastworks a mile long within twelve hundred yards of the village of Yorktown. Given the gunboats and the intrenchments, with their long range ordnance, and the evacuation of Yorktown follows by firms the conclusions drawn from the statements made to me last evening, by a gentleman just from the Peninsula, and which have just been trenches, and many sick have been removed to the rear. These two generals, who, so far, have proved themselves the best on their respective sides, will, in a few days, meet where merit is best tested—on the field of conflict. The coming contest will be one of terrible interest. The Union army is in a position from which it cannot retreat. This is but fair play, but certainly fit is reasonable to depressed public censure in advance, for General Lovell's name has been very roughly handled for two or three days pass. People do not hissinist to charge him with all manner of that motives for his conduct, but then this salways the case with an unfortunate general.

The Reaven Bontlet Convention.

From the Atlanta Intelligencer of the 30th ult. This body closed its annual session in La-Grange on Monday last. We understand that he number of delegates in attendance was not o large as in former years, though an excellent spirit pervaded the convention, and much important business was transacted. It was deterained to continue Mercer University in active operation. The income from tuition is largely reduced by the war, but there is an investment about $80,000 in first-class paying scentities which makes the college in a measure independent of taltion. Owing to the limited number of students, Professors Sandford and Jewett, with resident Crawford, have been deemed sufficient to carry on the collegiate course whilst Pro-fessors Tucker, Hillyer and Woodfire suspenheir engagements with the institution.

Notwithstanding the embarrassments growing out of the war, between four and five thousan ollars were paid over during the session to the ifferent benevolent enterprises under the patronage of the convention. A missionary meeting was held on Saturday evening, when after ad-dresses from Messrs. Hornady, DeVotie, and Wellborn, a collection was taken up, amounting o six bundred dollars. On Sunday evening meeting was held in behalf of the Bible and Co porteur society, which is now operating chiefly among the soldiers; after addresses from Doctor no circumstances to surrender the city into the Brantley and Crawford, upwards of four knodres dollars were collected.

The committee on the state of the country eported resolutions reaffirming the patriotic esolves of the last year, and declaring the inten ion of the members to sustain the governmen with all their power, moral and pecuniary, in the tremendous struggle which is flow in progress. On these resolutions the convention invited a vote from the audience present. Every man, oman and child in the house immediately arose in favor of the measure.

It was mentioned as a gratifying fact that the Indian tribes among whom the missionaries of the convention have been laboring for some years, had warmly esponsed the southern cause, and were giving evidence in the most satisfacory manner of their patriotism. The pulpits of the different churches in the village were occupied on Sunday by members of the convention. In the morning, Dr Crawford preached in the Baptist church, Dr. Brantley in the Methodist church, and Rev. A. J. Hunting ton in the Presbyterian church. The next session is to be held in Griffin, in April, 1863.

The Fight at Cumberland Cap.

Our information from Cumberland Gap is that the Federals, in large forces, commence an attack about noon on Tuesday. They wer galiantly received by our forces, and three times epulsed. In the last attack we learn they charged up to the breastworks of the fortifics tions. The enemy's loss was 130 killed and aster that is now sweeping over our devoted about 400 wounded. Our loss was 17 killed land, and, by our example, give hope and coun- and about 30 wounded. The last repulse was an effectual one, and sent the Federals, to use one of their own phrases, "skedading." They had not, at our last account, renewed the attack. Gen Stevenson, who has command of the forces at the Gap, has proved himself the man for the place; and, we learn, possesses the en-tire confidence of our troops. The fortifications have been approved by all experienced military men who have examined them; and as the one my's gunboats are not likely to ascend the Cum perland mountains, we may hope that this vic tory-by no means an unimportant one—is not the last that will be achieved by the beroic band who have so long and gallantly defended that post, barring the door of East Tennessee and Southwestern Virginia against the hosts of Lin-coln invadors.—Knozville Register, 2d.
